Mr. Gray of Indiana, who gets the Democratic appointment as Minister to Mexico, used to be a stalwart of stalwarts in the Republican party. On one occasion he locked the doors of the Indiana Senate to confine the Democratic members and compelled a quorum for the passage of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the Constitution.

Frankfort Roundabout.—After April ist the convicts will be kept at the cost of about $9,000 a month to the state, which is verily a heavy expense for supporting a Governor who is made up of spleen, egotism and arrogance, void of all the common sense and business qualifications that ordinary mortals sometimes have.

postponing or overruling their petitions for place.

Mr. Cleveland has had no warmer adherent than James A. McKenzle, whose eloquence has sounded his praise outside and inside convention hall; who got himself insulted at Louisville for Grover's sake; who painted the rainbow a brighter hue by his eloquent panegyrie to the charms of Frances.

Mr. Cleveland has had no bitterer enemy inside his party rankschan Jo C. S. Blackburn, unless it was his brother Jim. No man was ever better abused by inimitable invective than was Mr. Cleveland by the Blackburn insulted Jim McKenzie from the rostrum at Louisville on Grover Cleveland's account within the period of statute limitation.

Gleveland's account within the period of statute limitation.

Jim Blackburn is made Marshal of Kentucky with scurely the semblance of an effort on his part over active and able Democrats strongly backed; while Jim McKenzle sits in the chill of the ante chamber an applicant for well earned recognition, his warm heart growing sick with hope deferred.

This is merely a character sketch in charcon illustrative alike of Judge Jim Jewell's famous aphorism and an anomaly in human nature, and it is to be taken as entirely and absolutely unpersonal.
